Location: The memorial was moved during the construction of the Cathedral parking garage and replaced near its original location now near the glass elevators.

The bronze plaque is mounted on a block of limestone. It was dedicated on June 13, 1991 to honor Jean C. Vandemark – who taught music, was in the choir, and was known for her gardening. Her husband, Robert Vandemark, was treasurer of the Washington Cathedral Foundation. Mr. Vandermark’s gift was for a portion of the West Front planting.

Inscription:

June 1991
The Plantings of this Oak Grove
Glorify the God of All Gardeners
And are Living Memorials to
Jean C. Vandemark
