

Finial Garden

Formerly this “room” of the Garden was referred to as the Memory Garden or the St. Fiacre Garden. This inviting corner was transformed into an intimate and inviting garden room centered on a finial fallen from one of the Cathedral’s pinnacles – damaged in the 2011 earthquake.

Prior to the re-dedication of the Bishop’s Garden in 2013, this area was cleared, the slope re-graded, and new plantings, steps and a memorial bench were installed.

The lovely stone terracing recalls the All Hallows Amphitheater, found to the south of the garden across Pilgrim Road.
